Wilbur Glenn Voliva Saturday opened half of the new state cement road through Zion with a short prayer. Another half mile stretch of paving will be opened Sept. 28, leaving a half mile in the center of Zion as the only gap in eighty miles of paving between Chicago and Milwaukee.

Joseph Paule and his wife, Grace Marie Paule, owners of a resort at Fourth Lake, were made defendants in an injunction writ granted last week in circuit court by Judge Edwards. It was a federal injunction and forbids the manufacture or sale of intoxicating booze on their premises either by themselves or any of their servants or agents.

The State street stores will be open all day Saturday. During the summer, half holidays were granted the employees on Saturdays, but the big stores resumed their usual business hours Saturday morning. Merchants expect a vigorous fall trade as soon as the present hot spell ends.

To Lake county this year comes the marked honor of having the finest hoar on exhibition at the Wisconsin State fair at Milwaukee. Word has been received here that K. D. Byington, owner of the fine Karlton farm at Wadsworth, has received first award for his prize hoar. This means that the animal is Grand Champion Hoar of the State of Wisconsin.

Farmers from various sections about Graylake, as well as from other sections, are complaining of thieves abroad. Farmers are losing chickens by the dozen. They are afraid to leave home, because they feel that their property is not safe. When leaving after night, they will not take the chance of leaving their homes without protection, but are acting together and protecting the property of each other.

Two enormous leaded crystal stained glass globes valued at $1,000 have been installed on either side of the Hotel Geneva portico, and when lighted add much to the beauty of the place.

Reductions of from 1 to 2 cents in the price of milk and cream have been made by the Bowman Dairy company at Highland Park. The new prices went into effect September 1. The reductions are as follows: milk, quart, 14 to 12 cents; pint, 8 to 7 cents; cream, 2 pint, 17 to 16; triple cream, 22 to 21.

The Waukesha chautauqua this year had a deficit of $262. Waukesha slanders were more fortunate than those in most cities.

New Munster will have a new store soon. Roland Biemer will start a store in his father's building where he formerly had a store.

Farmers of South Bend, Ind., Saturday started a war to the finish on the milk distributors. They pledged to give their entire support free to the public. If necessary, in retaliation for the action of the dealers in paying them a small price, but retailing milk to consumers at a high price. Stations will be opened in all sections that the 30,000 residents of the city may obtain milk at the lowest price possible.

The school board of Williams Bay has purchased a Kissel truck. A closed body will be put on the truck and it will be used for the purpose of hauling the pupils from the outlying district to school.

Highway No. 51 from Milwaukee west was opened for travel Monday. With the exception of a six mile stretch east of Mukwonago the road is now paved all the way from East Troy to Milwaukee.

Puritan Custom Also Chinese.
The Puritans of old England and New England were unconsciously imitating the Chinese when they called their children Faith, Mercy, Hope, Prudence, Perseverance, Temperance, Charity, Love, Glory and Felicity. All these names have been used in China for 3,000 years.

FOOTBALL IS WANTED BY H. S. PUPILS

The Antioch high school pupils are desirous of having a foot ball team this year and have been holding a little preliminary practice. The great need for equipment is the biggest drawback to the development of a team and as this will prove a very strong advertising medium for the town it is up to the merchants and business men to get behind this plan. Principal L. O. Bright is very much in favor of this plan and would be pleased to hear from the merchants in this respect. Mr. Chalcraft, a new addition to the high school staff, is willing to devote his time to the development of this team as is Frank Wood, of the News, who has had considerable experience in coaching foot ball teams in Evanston. There are quite a number of football players in Antioch who no doubt will be glad to lend a hand in whipping a team into shape and with the material on hand it is believed a very creditable team could be put in the field. The amount estimated as necessary to start the team off is $500 and after that initial cost it is believed the team could be self-sustaining by a small admission fee to the games.

"Way Down East" Proves Big Success

The showing of "Way Down East" at the Majestic theatre by Messrs. King and Garland proved to be a good financial success as well as bringing trade to the town. This show attracted people for miles around and brought many visitors to the village. The proprietors of the Majestic are to be congratulated in the manner in which they "put this show across." It involved considerable risk on the part of these men as the expense of getting this show and the advertising amounted to quite a sum, not mentioning the extra expenses of a first class orchestra, many favorable comments being heard in this feature. Messrs. King and Garland promise another big feature soon.

Father Batty at St. Ignatius Church

Next Sunday, the second Sunday in the month, Rev. Batty, of Libertyville, will make his monthly visit to St. Ignatius church. The holy communion will be celebrated at 8 and 11 a. m., and during the church school session the sacrament of holy baptism will be administered.

All communicants of the church should make their communion at either one of the celebrations and all strangers and lake visitors are cordially invited to be present.

Trinitrotoluene, a product of toluene, is derived from coal tar and composed of carbon, hydrogen, oxygen and nitrogen. It is considered one of the most powerful of the high explosives and is used for purposes for which dynamite and nitroglycerin are not adapted. The latter is the most powerful explosive of its kind.

Botanical Appellation.

Best Thing She Does

Drowning at Lake Marie Last Sunday

Another victim was added to the toll of drownings in Lake county Sunday evening when Michael Daugherty, of 79th and Halstead streets, Chicago, lost his life in Lake Marie. A motorboat containing Daugherty, aged 24, and five others, one his sister, was overloaded and tipped over. The others were saved by clinging to the boat, which filled with water and sank just as a rescue party reached them. Daugherty had been staying at the Guthrie cottage. Every effort is being made to locate the body. Dragnets were used all day Sunday and Monday but without avail. The accident occurred just before the severe wind and rainstorm which swept the county.

Predicts Drop in Milk Prices to Consumer

Chicago will have ten cent milk soon said Russell J. Poole, secretary of the council committee on high costs, Tuesday.

"If the distributors do not reduce the price the dairy farmers will," he added. "The farmers will gain, so will the consumers, but the distributors will lose heavily."

Referring to the reported protest of the 400 farmers in the vicinity of Chicago, against the small sum paid them by distributors and the large sum the latter in turn charged consumers, Mr. Poole added:

"The farmers in the sixty-mile zone from which Chicago gets its milk are ready to organize to sell their product directly to consumers."

"If the farmers are forced to invade the market it is going to hurt the distributors so hard they will have a hard time recovering, if they ever do. The farmer can sell his milk at 7 cents a quart and obtain twice what he now is paid. The consumer would save 5 cents a quart."

Big Drama of the Northwoods Coming

"The Barbarian" a gripping dramatic photoplay of the northwoods, starring Monroe Salisbury and an all-star cast headed by Jane Novak of the lotus lided eyes, will be the feature attraction at the Crystal theatre, Saturday, Sept. 10.

Adapted for the screen by E. P. Heath from the story by Theodore Seixus Solomons, and directed by Donald Crisp who is credited, with having directed some of the most notable pictures of the past year, "The Barbarian" is a motion picture of unusual dramatic strength and rare artistic charm. It tells the story of a man who was reared in the open spaces of the northland undisciplined by the conflict of cities. A powerful syndicate attempts to rob him of his estate. This arouses the fighting spirit in the man and he answers gladly the challenge. In the end he wins out but what is more important to him, he wins the girl of his choice.

Tomorrow night the "Best of Luck" will be the attraction at the Crystal. In this great feature will be an auto leaping into a deep canyon, a ship blown up and many other thrilling instances which will hold you spellbound.

Opening Dance of Season

The fall dancing season will open with a big Snowball cotillion at the Antioch opera house next Saturday evening. The affair is under the auspices of the Sylvan Beach orchestra.

Resigned the Vice Presidency.

Hague Home of Treaties.

More international conferences have been held at The Hague and more treaties and alliances arranged there than in any other city of the world.

Then and Now.

The old-fashioned man who used to retire with a few hundred dollars now has a son who spends a few hundred dollars each day before he retires.

China Protects Decorations.

In China it is a punishable offense for a man to wear a button, an emblem or a decoration of a rank superior to his own.

WINCH WINS DECISION OVER PHELPS

William O. Winch won a decision in Judge Edwards court in Waukegan Saturday which upholds the Channel Lake pavilion against charges filed by Chas. A. Phelps, owner of a summer home at the lake.

Mr. Phelps claimed the pavilion a public nuisance, filing separate charges against "jazz" music until late at night, making impossible to sleep, also the honking of automobile horns and the chug of outposts on machines, and the noise of the patrons upon leaving after the dances, all of which charges were thrown out by the court.

The court's ruling was, as long as Mr. Winch did not violate the liquor laws and as the pavilion is not in a "residential" district, the pavilion was a legitimate business.

Mr. Winch has spent much money in the last few years in giving the summer resorters a high class amusement center and thousands of pleasure seekers come to the pavilion each season.

The Phelps-Winch case was one of long standing and of much interest to the younger generation.

Farmers Face Big Loss in Milk Drop

More than 1,000 farmers crowded a meeting at Woodstock, Ill., last week to protest against the cut in milk prices, which, they said, will result in a loss to farmers during the month of $480,000.

Mayor Frank Green, of Woodstock, W. J. Kittle, former secretary, and E. C. Rockwell, president of the Milk Producers' association, and Paul Donovan, attorney, spoke. Condensers, offering $1.75 and $1.90 per hundred pounds, are paying more for milk than bottles for the first time in the history of the industry.

As a result of the meeting the negotiation which will set the price for milk in October will be taken out of the hands of the Milk Producers' Co-operative Marketing Co., which ordered the cut of 80 cents per hundred pounds, and will be taken over by the new directors, probably under the name of the Milk Producers' association.

MILK HELPS YOUNG ANIMALS

Skim Milk and Other Creamery By-Products Are Useful Feeds for Pigs and Calves.

While whole milk is nature's balanced food and is valuable for young animals, skim milk and other creamery by-products, such as buttermilk and whey, are also useful feeds, say specialists of the United States Department of Agriculture. Skim milk is fed to young pigs in the proportion of about three pounds to one of concentrates, such as cornmeal or shorts. Buttermilk, which has not been diluted too much with water, has nearly the same feeding value as skim milk. It is a better food for swine than for calves because it is apt to cause digestive disturbances when fed to the latter, unless considerable care is used. Whey is used almost exclusively in feeding swine. It is about two-thirds as valuable as skim milk as a food. Accordingly from ten to twelve pounds of whey are equivalent to one pound of grain. Sweet skim milk, when supplemented with other feed such as corn meal or wheat shorts, is very good for young calves. If beef calves are to be fed skim milk, they should be fed in practically the same manner as dairy calves.

HIGHER PRICES FOR HORSES

Farmers Are Advised to Breed More Heavy Draft Animals Wanted for City Hauling.

Heavy draft horses are in greater demand and commanding higher prices than at any time in the last 20 years, according to the proprietor of a Boston trucking concern which maintains 100 horses and 23 auto trucks. In a letter received at University farm he says: "For the short haul the horse has no competitor. We buy at any time and have paid as high as $800 each, but are not getting as good horses as we would like to use. We believe the peak stage of motor truck sales and use has been reached. Farmers should be encouraged to breed better horses."

No Tuition Fee to Attend Local High School

Through some mistaken misinformation persons outside the Antioch high school district believe that they will have to pay tuition if they send their children to Antioch. This is not the case. All of the territory in the county outside of high school districts is called non-high school territory and is taxed to send the pupils of this territory to some high school of their choice. The high school receives the tuition from this fund.

Persons living at Lake Villa are really helping to pay tuition of pupils attending Waukegan, Gurnee and Libertyville as well as of their own who attend at Antioch. They are saving very little even if they do not send their children to any high school.

We hope this may clear up some misunderstanding. The heavy enrollment at the high school is seriously taxing its capacity. At present there are more pupils than there are seats in the study hall. There are at least a dozen more to register. New desks are being ordered. The manual training and agriculture departments are being conducted in the gymnasium until additional accommodations can be secured.

Antioch Nine Wins From Zion; Loses to Fansteels

Sunday was an ideal day for a baseball game, but still only a few gathered to witness the contest between the locals and Zion City.

The locals figured on a hard game after a look at the visitors as most of them were heavily built expecting some hard hitting, after two of three innings it was only a practice game.

Weiss was in the box for the locals, he allowed eleven hits and most of them were placed in such a manner that with the good support he received it was a cinch all the way through.

Graff did the pitching for the visitors and allowed thirteen hits, this was Graff's second battle against the locals this season, as he pitched for Gurnee on August 14th and beat the locals 5 to 2. As the breaks this time were in favor of the locals as you see by the score of 8 to 4 or we might say 8 to 1 as the visitors only earned one run.

The score:

Antioch met defeat at the Lake county fair Tuesday afternoon, the Fanset team, of Waukegan, getting the large end of a 6 to 3 score. Whitton had things going his own way until the sixth inning, holding a 3 to 0 lead over his rivals, when Moulton made an error which paved way for three runs. The eighth and ninth resulted in three more runs, while the locals were held scoreless.

Whitton pitched an excellent game, striking out nine men and allowing but two bases on balls.

On Sunday, September 18, local base ball fans will have a chance to witness the feature game of the season. The Bloomer Girls of Chicago, will be the attraction. The girls have a team capable of winning over most Chicago amateur teams. The management has gone through much expense in billing this attraction and asks your co-operation in making this, the last game of the season, a big success. Tickets for this game, in order to defray expenses, will be 50 cents.

LARGE VOTE IS POLLED AT ELECTION

Early Voters Storm Village Hall; Both Sides Predicting Victory

TRUSTEES TO BE ELECTED

At an early hour this morning voters began to show much enthusiasm over the election of the four village trustees to fill the vacancy of the four resigned trustees of a month ago.

Both parties represented on the ticket have made house to house canvass and each feel confident of polling a large majority. At 9:30 o'clock this morning there were more votes cast than at the entire primary—the number of ballots cast at that time being 95.

The election today of the new members for the board of trustees is to prove of vital interest for Antioch. The administration of the town's affairs for the next year is going to be of such a nature as to demand the best executive ability of the village, an administration that will be called upon to take advantage of one of the biggest issues this town has ever had—the state road.

This road is going to be the means of bringing thousands of visitors to this town and the question of whether Antioch is to gain by this improvement will be entirely in the hands of the new board.

An administration for the betterment of our village should be the dominant issue of this board and action to this effect will be demanded by the business men property owners of this town.

Lyman Armstrong Dies at Chandler, Ariz.

A message was received here on Friday of last week telling of the death of Mr. Lyman Armstrong which occurred at Chandler, Arizona, on the first day of September. No particulars are as yet known as the message was very brief. Mr. Armstrong, who was a former Antioch boy, went to Arizona in quest of better health about nine years ago and while the western climate failed to effect a cure it prolonged his life a number of years. He is survived by one brother who resides at Loon Lake and also by one sister, as well as a number of other relatives and many friends in this vicinity. The funeral was held at Chandler and he was buried in the community which had become home to him and where he met with the success which placed him among the wealthy land owners of that section.

This eliminates the opening of Friday evenings, which prevailed during the summer months.

Custom Long Kept Up.

Up to a few years ago a horse, saddled and bridled, stood in the stables of the Vivians (Vivian, as it was spelled in the old days) of Tredwarrren (Cornwall, Eng.), ready for use night and day. For 100 years horses had succeeded each other in commemoration of the escape on horseback of a Vivian who lived in the days of the memorable flood which submerged the land, some say in 1014 and others to 1090.

"AH, SENORITA!"

Synopsis.—In a New York jewelry store, Philip Severn, United States consular agent, notices a small box which attracts him. He purchases it. Later he discovers in a secret compartment a writing giving a clue to a revolutionary movement in this country ostensibly seeking the overthrow of the Chilean government, but evidently international in character and in any event threatening the welfare of the United States. The writer mentions a rendezvous and Severn, temporarily at leisure, determines to investigate on his own account.

The whole affair looked hopeless. About all I could do would be to send the torn note to the proper authorities in Washington, with a statement of how it came into my possession, and let them dispose of the matter in any way they deemed best. I wrote such a letter carefully on hotel stationery, and went down to mail it in the lobby.

Before disposing of it in the mailbox I encountered the manager, Burke, and stopped for a word. We were still talking when a bellboy came up hurriedly with a message. Burke turned.

"What is it, George?"
"That Gans street party is on the wire, sir."

"Oh, all right. Excuse me, Severn, but I've been trying to get connection for an hour."

"But wait a minute," my veins tingling. "Did he say Gans street? Where is that? There is no such name in the city directory."

"Gans! Why, over in Jersey. Yes, I'm coming."

I thrust the unmailed letter into my pocket, and sat down, staring at the crowd in the lobby, but entirely indifferent to their presence. Here at least was an opening, a chance—Gans street was in Jersey City. Then it was not all a dream. I would at least look over the ground before I gave up in despair, for I had stumbled upon a way out of the blind alley—Gans street, Jersey City.

CHAPTER II.

A Man and a Woman.

It was late in the afternoon, the day dark, with a chilly wind blowing off the river, when I reached Jersey City. The first policeman encountered gave me all necessary directions, so that I alighted from a street car within a block of my destination. A saloon on the upper corner of the block furnished me the necessary clue, and, using it as a marker, I succeeded in tracing back until satisfied I had thus safely located "876."

It was an abandoned factory, built of brick, two stories high, evidently extending over considerable ground at the rear, but with a frontage not to exceed forty feet. The lower windows were boarded up, a number of those in the second story broken, and the main entrance, large enough for the passage of a motor truck, was tightly secured by an immense iron bar. A smaller door to the right alone offered any possibility of entrance, although it was tightly closed.

To all outward appearances the place had been unoccupied for months, and perhaps years. From the sidewalk it was impossible to gain any glimpse within. Only one discovery served to convince me that I might be on the right track—that I had not been entirely deceived. A small sign, so covered with dust and dirt as to be almost unrecognizable, was nailed over the smaller door. In the growing dusk I was obliged to study it intently to decipher the words, but finally made them out letter by letter:

"OFFICE ALVA MALLEABLE IRON COMPANY."

Here was a strange coincidence, if nothing more, for Gustave Alva had been one of the names signed on the hotel register. Beyond doubt this old, abandoned iron foundry was his property, and what better spot could be selected in which to meet and concoct a scheme of crime? What a place to hide arms for shipment. Whatever doubt I may have felt regarding my venture vanished in the presence of that unusual name. This was unquestionably the place named in the letter as a rendezvous; here was where the recipient of that letter was to go and receive instructions; where he was to use the mysterious raps, and the counterfeits "Cervantes," in order to gain admittance. The knowledge that I was actually upon the threshold of such a discovery brought with it a determination not to lose the advantage. But what could I do? What further steps might be safely taken alone?

The night was dark, a slight drizzle in the air, no one about except from necessity. No sign of life was visible for the full extent of the block, until the saloon on the further corner came into view. Its gleaming hospitality invited me, and I strolled along the opposite walk, my coat collar turned up to shut out the drizzle, and finally crossed over to where I could peer in through the dingy windows. The man behind the bar was unmistakably Polish, and of no high type, and at first I saw no other occupants of the place except two roughly dressed men at a table just inside, who were playing cards silently. The room was clean enough, and quiet, yet I felt no inclination to enter. Those were not fellows it would be safe to question, and I would have turned away, but at that instant I perceived the indistinct figure of a young woman in the further corner, sitting beside a table alone.

Her presence stimulated my curiosity. She appeared to be young, not badly dressed, and her being in such a place unattended rendered her of some interest. It surely could do no harm if I dropped in for a sandwich and a glass of beer. I crossed to the bar, furtively watchful, but no one except the proprietor apparently paid the slightest attention to my entrance. The two men never glanced up from their cards, and the girl—for she was scarcely more—merely turned her head and stared at me without interest. I spoke to the barman in English. We exchanged a few words—his own speech was broken—while he prepared the sandwich, and the only thing unusual I noticed was the passage of a slight signal between him and the woman across the room. I could not be sure even as to that, but gained the impression that he shook his head negatively, as though to some mute question.

Unless it might be the intense brunette blackness of hair and an extremely clear complexion, there was nothing typically Spanish in her appearance. Indeed she impressed me as thoroughly American in features, dress and manner, somewhere in the twenties I should judge, with brown eyes, and a face decidedly pleasant to look upon, although with a firmness to it, expressed by mouth and chin, not to be mistaken. I noted these things hurriedly, never venturing to stare at her, though she apparently gave me no attention whatever. Somehow the girl seemed strangely out of place in that dingy saloon—she did not in any sense belong. She was evidently not there seeking company, nor was she drinking; and yet there must surely be some meaning to her presence.

The proprietor approached me, leaning one hand on the table.

"There is nothing more?" he asked.

"No, this will answer very well."

He lingered, tempted to question me.

"You have not been in before? Perhaps you do not live near?"

"I do not," I replied, frankly. "I travel out of Boston, and sell lumber. I have been doing some business with the yard down below."

"I see. You are not from New York, I make it?"

"No, Boston has always been my home."

"Once I live there, too? When I first came north from Rio. What you think about this war? We lick Germany—hey?"

"Oh, I don't know; she seems to be more than holding her own."

"Ach, yes. But now this country goes in, what then?"

I looked up quickly into his face, with a swift desire to test his real sentiment.

"This country! Why, should it go in? There are Germans enough over here to stop that."

"Not Germans—no. But Internationalists, revolutionaries. They are more than you think. 'Tis time for them to strike a great blow."

"You are Polish, are you not?"

"Yah, from Warsaw. I come over six years."

"Naturalized?"

"I have first papers—why you ask?" suspiciously.

"I merely questioned from curiosity." My eyes wandered once more to the girl across the room, and he noticed the glance.

"You wonder what she do in here?" he asked. "I tell you. She was my niece, an' sit here to wait for a friend to walk home with her. It is not a good neighborhood, this, for a woman alone in the dark."

"Her home is some distance?"

"Five—six blocks. It is a dark, bad way."

He moved back toward the bar, apparently satisfied with his examination of me, as well as his explanation. I wondered grimly why he had taken the trouble to tell me all this, and ordered another glass of beer as an excuse to linger there a while longer. What was the party like who was to call for the girl? I did not have to linger long to gratify my curiosity. The side door opened silently, and a man stepped briskly inside, shaking the raindrops from his coat as he greeted the barman cheerily.

"A dirty night, Jans," he said, glancing swiftly about, his eyes sweeping over me sharply. "Business not very good, I suppose?"

"Dead. It's no good now any more, with all the factories closing up because of the war. Just some spiceman drops in for a beer. That makes no nothing."

The newcomer laughed, evidently put quite at ease by this quick explanation. I was watching him. A rather thick-set fellow with a turned-up mustache and a disfiguring scar on one cheek, which gave to his eye a peculiar expression. Watching the fellow I must have missed some signal, for he whirled about suddenly and confronted the girl, who had already risen to her feet and stood expectantly, one hand yet resting on the table.

"Ah, senorita! You were waiting for me to come," he exclaimed. "Yet I have not kept you long."

"Oh, no," she answered quietly in Spanish, her voice so low the words barely carried to where I sat. "You were delayed?"

"A car blockade at the wharf. No, thank you, Jans, nothing tonight. You would go, senorita?"

"There can be nothing to remain longer here for, surely."

I watched them disappear through the side door, marking his grasp on her arm and her quick glance aside into his face. There had been something wrong about this meeting, something undeniably awkward and constrained. These two were not what they pretended to be—old-time friends meeting incidentally to walk home together. They were strangers, coming together there for the first time by appointment. Neither had previously known the other. I had even detected fear, doubt, in the expression of the girl's face.

Yet I dare not move, or attempt to follow them. I could only sit quietly, my eyes on the window fronting the street. I watched intently, but no shadows passed that way—the two had not turned down Gans street.

My mind worked rapidly as I sat there motionless, afraid to make the slightest move lest it arouse suspicion. Whatever the object of the meeting might be, Jans was more or less involved. He had signaled to the girl twice, and his words, however innocent they may have sounded, must have brought a warning to the man. Beyond doubt he had questioned me with the distinct purpose of this discovering why I had drifted into the place. I dismissed utterly his statement that the young woman was his niece—her very appearance gave that lie.

Something was wrong, perhaps not criminal, perhaps in no way associated with the affair which had brought me into that neighborhood, and yet suspiciously wrong, and I felt inexorably driven to find out what it all meant. I finished my beer slowly, and then selected a cigar from the case and lit it deliberately. Jans leaned over the bar, speaking confidentially, and I had to remain, although I cursed inwardly at the delay. Yet I broke away at last, assured that I had finally lulled every suspicion to rest and passed out through the front door.

"You're Charlett, Ain't You?"

To Remove Grit From Eye.

Small foreign bodies which are not imbedded in the eyeball may often be removed by going into a dark room, looking up toward the lighting fixture, then turning the light on quickly, writes a correspondent. If the light is strong enough, it will cause the particle to be washed to the corner of the eye. It is then easily removed by means of a clean handkerchief.

Proverb Analyzed.

A proverb hopes nothing, fears nothing, that the eyes do not see, the ears do not hear. It is the doubting Thomas of life, of literature. "A man of the world is," as Mr. Balfour once neatly epitomized him, "one who does not believe anything good of the world." Well, so is a proverb.—V. H. Friedlander, in Country Life.

THE TRIALS OF A HOUSEWIFE

How They Have Been Endured and How Overcome by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Experience of a Providence Woman

Providence, R. I.—"I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for a female trouble and headache. It began just after my baby was born, and I did the best I could about getting my work done, but I could not stand on my feet. I read in the papers about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and the good it was doing other women, and I have got dandy results from it and will always recommend it. You can use these facts as a testimonial if you wish."—Mrs. HERBERT L. CASSEN, 18 Meni Court, Providence, R. I.

Ohio woman for three years could hardly keep at home and do her housework as was so ill. After he wrote by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound:

Fayette, O.—"For about three years I was very nervous and had headache, dragging-down pains, could not sleep at night, and had no appetite. At times I could hardly do my housework. I got medicine from a doctor but it did not help me. I saw Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound advertised in a newspaper and took it with good results, and am now able to do my housework. I recommend your medicine to my friends and you may publish my testimonial."—Mrs. CHESTER A. BALL, R. 15, Fayette, Ohio.

An Illinois woman relates her experience: Bloomington, Ill.—"I was never very strong and female trouble kept me so weak I had no interest in my housework. I had such a headache I could not cook a meal or sweep a room without raging with pain. Rubbing my back with alcohol sometimes eased the pain for a few hours, but did not stop it. I heard of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and six bottles of it. It made me as strong and healthy as any woman; and I give my thanks to it for my health."—Mrs. J. A. McQUARRY, 610 W. Walnut St., Bloomington, Ill.

The conditions described by Mrs. Cassen, Mrs. Ball, and Mrs. McQuarry will appeal to many women who struggle on with their daily tasks in just such conditions—in fact, it is said that the tragedy in the lives of many women is almost beyond belief. Day in and day out they slave in their homes for their families—and beside the daily routine of housework, often make clothes for themselves and for their children, or work in their gardens, all the while suffering from those awful bearing-down pains, headache, nervousness, the blues, and troubles which sap the very foundation of life until there comes a time when nature gives out and an operation seems inevitable. If such women would only profit by the experience of these three women, and remember that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is the natural restorative for such conditions it may save them years of suffering and unhappiness.

There is hardly a neighborhood in any town or hamlet in the United States wherein some woman does not reside who has been restored to health by this famous medicine. Therefore ask your neighbor, and you will find in a great many cases that at some time or other she, too, has been benefited by taking it, and will recommend it to you. For more than forty years this old-fashioned root and herb medicine has been restoring suffering women to health and strength.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Private Text-Book upon "Allments Peculiar to Women" will be sent to you free upon request. Write to The Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Massachusetts. This book contains valuable information.

Life's Little Courtships.

Stillwell seemed in none too good a humor when he got home from the office. "Hang it all!" he exclaimed; "We'll have to call on the Mortons tonight!"

"Why, Henry," said Mrs. Stillwell, "you said you wanted to stay home with me in comfort tonight."

"Yes; but Morton told Collins he and his wife meant to call on us tonight. We can leave their house earlier than we could make them leave ours."

Thus We Babble On.

Whatever that writing was, it doesn't appear to have been "Keep off the grass."—Boston Transcript.

Petrified Apple.

Dr. C. E. Holt of Oils, Mo., is puzzling local scientists with what appears to be a petrified apple. It was picked up on the shores of a near-by lake, and whether the "apple" is petrified, the work of nature, or of a clever stoic cannot be decided. It is perfectly formed, yellowish white in color, natural fruit shape, about two inches in diameter and exact even to the stem, leaf and a decayed portion of the skin.

The greater the shortage in a man's accounts the longer it takes to find him.

The bonds of matrimony would be more popular if they paid cash dividends.

CAPS ADVANTAGEOUS
IN PROTECTING HAYWould Obviate Much Difficulty
With Alfalfa Crop.Old Methods Used in Curing Mixed Timothy and Clover Not Always Adequate for Good Grade of Alfalfa Hay.(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)
Hay caps can be used to advantage on many farms in the eastern half of the United States, to keep rain from wetting hay in cocks. It is pointed out in Farmers' Bulletin 977 of the United States Department of Agriculture.In the corn belt, where thousands of farmers are growing small acreages ofAlfalfa Hay, Showing Cocks Covered With Canvas.alfalfa, and beginning to realize the great value of this crop, the use of hay caps would largely obviate the difficulty now experienced in curing the first and the last cuttings. The old methods used in curing mixed timothy-and-clover hay are not always adequate for alfalfa, and in many instances a good grade of alfalfa hay might be assured by the use of hay caps.In the South, where the weather is rather a large part of the time during the long haying season, the hay cap is an especially valuable addition to hay-making equipment. Alfalfa, also alfalfa and Johnson grass mixed hay are cut from three to five times a year in the South, and a great deal of hay of inferior quality is made as a result of trying to cure by ordinary methods.
In this section hay caps have been used to good advantage, especially with legume hay grown for market.

ESTIMATE OF LUMBER WASTE

By Careful Cutting Much Can Be Saved and Short Pieces Can Be Used in Odd Places.Don't forget to estimate the waste in buying lumber for building a poultry house, barn or other structure.
In figuring on common sheathing add one-tenth for waste, and one-fourth for matched flooring and all kinds of siding. By careful cutting you can save much of the waste, and there are many places in a building where the short pieces can be used.Don't buy too many nails. If you do they are almost certain to be sent around the place, especially if there are children. Some specialists in the United States Department of Agriculture prefer wire nails as they are easier to use than cut nails, although the latter kind have greater binding power. Use 10 to 20-d nails for framing; 8 to 10-d for sheathing; 6-d finish or casing nails for clap-boarding, and 8-d for siding. Four-penny nails are 1 1/2 inches long, 6-d are 2 inches, and 8-d nails are 2 1/2 inches. It takes about four pounds of 8-d nails to 1,000 shingles; 18 pounds of 6-d for 1,000 square feet, board measure, of leveled siding; 20 pounds of 8-d; and 25 pounds of 10-d for 1,000 square feet of sheathing; 30 pounds of 8-d for 1,000 square feet of flooring, and 15 pounds of 10-d, or 25 pounds of 20-d for 1,000 feet of studding.

FEEDING CATTLE IN SUMMER

Animals Have Seldom Been Marked Down When Marketed Because
There Is a Surplus.The increase of chores in summer will operate against a great increase of cattle feeding during the season of field work, for the average farmer does not care to feed cattle night and morning in summer when tired out with the long day's work on the land.
But if one cares to investigate, he will find that summer-fed cattle seldom have to be marked down when marketed because there is a surplus of stuff in the terminal markets.The ideal ration is made up of rich, tender grass and grain. The feeding period is shortened and the gain per hundred pounds of grain is enhanced as compared with dry-lot feeding in winter. Counting all the factors in the game, the risk in summer feeding for market is far less than in winter.

MINERAL MIXTURE FOR HOGS

Charcoal or Slack Coal, Wood Ashes,
Air-Slaked Lime and Copperas
Are of Importance.Keep a mineral mixture of charcoal or slack coal, one bushel, wood ashes one bushel, air-slaked lime four pounds, salt four pounds, copperas one and one-fourth pounds, before your hogs at all times. The copperas is dissolved in a quart of water and poured over the other ingredients after they are mixed. This mixture helps to keep down worms and makes the hogs have a better appetite.FARM

KEEP PRODUCERS INFORMED

Farmers Advised to Study Market Reports In and Out of Season to Keep Posted.(Prepared by the U. S. Department of Agriculture.)How can the farmer and stock raiser turn the live stock reports of the bureau of markets, United States Department of Agriculture, into dollars is frequently asked.The answer is for the farmer to get so much information out of the reports that he can conduct his breeding, feeding and marketing operations a little more intelligently in the future, and therefore more profitably than in the past.Market reports are history, and the chief value of history is the basis which it provides on which to forecast the future. In other words, what has happened in the past will probably occur again under the same or similar circumstances.Small benefit is generally derived from reading a single market report, or one covering a short period of time.
Markets move in cycles, and the man who would keep informed must follow them diligently in season and out.
This is a matter of particular importance to the stockman, because his business is, to an unusual degree, a long-time speculation. He must prepare now and lay his plans today in light of what he thinks the market will be anywhere from six months to two years hence. But how will the department's reports assist him in doing this?First of all, he should take into account potential supplies of the particular class of live stock in which he is interested. Assume that cattle is his line. The monthly report, Stock at Stockyards, gives the number of cattle and calves marketed from month to month through 68 central markets. If such movements are unusually heavy for any considerable time, it may indicate a cattle shortage during the next year or two, and a shortage of any commodity usually means higher prices.This same report also shows the number of cattle and calves that went back to the country as stockers and feeders. If such movements were exceptionally light, it would help to confirm the belief that a comparative shortage in cattle was impending. On the other hand, heavy stocker and feeder shipments would go a long way toward neutralizing the importance ofMarket Reports Are Read With Much Interest by Progressive Farmers.the heavy receipts, for the stockmen would know that most of these cattle going back to the country must be returned to market during the next few weeks or months and enter consumption channels.Having established in this fashion a broad basis for his operations, let us assume the stockman is feeding a lot of steers for the market. He must now give market reports more careful and persistent attention than before.
It is quite important that he know what kind of cattle are in best demand on the principal markets. If there is a steady inquiry for heavy finished cattle, and that kind are selling at a premium over lighter weights, it will probably pay him to "feed his cattle out," unless the cost of feed is exceptionally high.If, however, consumptive demand seems to be drifting steadily toward lighter retail cuts of meat, or because of general business depression or some other cause, is centering chiefly on the lower and cheaper grades, he may find it more profitable to market his cattle at an earlier age and before they have attained great weight.Abundant information along this line will be found both in the live stock market reports and the reports dealing with meat-trade conditions in the large consuming centers.In this connection the stockman will also be interested in keeping advised as to whether the slaughter of meat is increasing or decreasing and whether the movement applies equally to all classes of meat, or whether slaughter of beef is decreasing while that of some other class is increasing. This information is obtainable from the statistical report covering the live stock and meat situation, which is based on the federal meat-inspection reports of the bureau of animal industry and is also published monthly by the bureau of markets.YOUNGEST
"BIG CHIEF"
IN AMERICAMore than a million persons attended the Pageant of Progress in Chicago, and only one case of pickpocketing was reported—and the pickpocket, thinking he was acting with a confederate, slipped a stolen purse to a "plain clothes" man. Chicagoans point out that this merely shows the effectiveness of the service Charles C. Fitzmorris, General Superintendent of Police of Chicago, is giving to the big city on the lake. Chief Fitzmorris is the youngest "big chief" in America, having just reached his 37th birthday. Chief Fitzmorris keeps in close personal touch with the members of the force, and their troubles are his troubles. The accompanying picture shows the Chief on the horse he rode at the head of the great Pageant of Progress parade.

FARM CHIMNEYS NEED STUDY

They Should Start From Ground and Not Be Placed on Brackets—
Make Foundation Solid.All chimneys for farm buildings should start from the ground. Those placed on brackets are unsafe and often increase the rate of insurance.
In a properly designed house of moderate size, one or at most two chimneys, each containing several flues, will serve every purpose. If possible, a flue should be provided for each stove, as much better drafts are thereby obtained, say specialists of the United States Department of Agriculture.The chimney should have a solid foundation of brick or stone, and if of brick, of course, an extra footing should be laid. The exterior walls should be two bricks thick and the division walls one brick thick. In case the chimney is lined with one of the patent fire-clay linings now on the market one brick will prove of sufficient thickness for the exterior walls.In case it is necessary to carry a stovepipe any considerable distance inside a partition to reach the chimney, a terra cotta thimble should be used, and where a pipe passes completely through a partition it should be protected with a ventilated thimble.

PLAN TO WEAN CALVES EARLY

Much Time and Annoyance Saved if Youngster Is Taken Away When Quite Young.The cow owner who neglects to wean his calf because it is too much trouble is making ten times the trouble for himself by letting it nurse its mother. It is surprising how soon a calf can be taught to drink from a bucket, if one is determined enough.
And the freedom from bothering with a hungry young bull a few weeks later, charging down, trampling one's feet and insisting upon having his way, is worth a lot.

AN APPEAL TO COMMON SENSE

Many wild stories have been circulated recently concerning the Milk Producers Co-operative Marketing Co., resulting in many farmers becoming discouraged.

We do not accuse any directors of the Marketing company of dishonesty, but we do assert that many of them are men who are not qualified for the positions they now hold.

They have no doubt been doing their very best but their best has not proven good enough.

However this is no reason why the farmers should withdraw from the Marketing Co., or in any way condemn the organization.

These failures should be charged to incompetent individuals and not to the organization.

The Marketing Company is without doubt the best organization, the farmer can affiliate himself with. It is an organization that every farmer should be proud to belong to and work for its perfection.

As the organization now stands it lacks proper business management and it is the duty of every farmer who is not a member to unite with the different locals and lend his support in placing this organization on a footing with any other organization of high standing in the country. Let every farmer unite and boost, and make this organization one that shall be looked upon throughout the country as the fairest, sincerest and strongest in the country.

Whenever you feel inclined to knock or in any way disparagingly speak of the Marketing Co., stop and consider that it is your own organization that you are knocking. It must be admitted that the organization has accomplished much good and this has been done under very poor management, therefore you will have to admit that under proper management this organization can be placed on a sound business basis and its possibilities under such management are unlimited.

There will be other organizations offer you more money for your milk than you will receive at this time, this is done to break the Marketing Co. your own organization.

Borden, Bowman, et al are anxious to wreck the farmers organization, any my appeal to every farmer is. This is your battle, it is your opportunity to declare to the world that you are either men who can stand your ground or the most disgraceful army of quitters that ever faced an enemy.

I cannot look upon the farmer as a coward, he has for many years made the greatest of sacrifices, he has truly proven himself the backbone of his country.

THE LONGER SKIRT

Spiral Drapery With Long Cascade Touching Floor.

French Modistes Send Representatives to Races Garbed in Latest Models to Win Favor.

Fulfilling the prophecy of the longer skirt comes the new model in black crepe with a spiral draped skirt which ends in a long cascade which literally touches the floor. The snug bodice and georgette sleeves are outlined in bead bands.

Apparently there has been a compromise agreement on skirt lengths. They are perceptibly longer in the frocks being shown for summer wear, but not so long as the designers set out to have them.

Women have tried to resist the fashion power which is putting them back

Long Cascade Touching the Floor.

In long skirts after their enjoyment of short models these several years, but femininity is yielding and the costume designers are winning out, as they usually do. The French and British women were first to resist, but the French modistes have been sending their representatives to the races in longer skirts, and women wishing to follow close to the "mode" have capitulated. The shortest skirts seen nowadays are in bridal costumes.

COLORS FOR PRACTICAL USE

Browns and Grays are Next to Black and Navy in Point of Durability.

Browns and grays worn a great deal at this time, are next to black and navy in point of durability, but browns and grays are so extremely difficult to get out of it, if originally every detail of the costume has been matched up. A brown hat is not effective with anything but a brown costume, although a gray hat, recent experiences have shown, is effective with practically everything not exceeding brown.

Black hats are, of course, the great economy, for there is no time nor place nor costume for which it is in bad taste, while a navy hat has a much more restricted sphere.

If women with a minimum amount of money for their clothes budget would consider the occasion and the various color combinations which may result from one's wardrobe, they would get a great deal more out of their clothes than they do. It is very nice, of course, to have hats to match up with one's dresses, and all accessories in keeping, but it is less costly to select things that may be juggled around and worn with everything without fear of inharmonious.

THE CHILD'S SEPARATE SKIRT

Lightweight Serge, Pleated All Around, Is Regarded as Particularly Smart.

Among the generous range of play and utility frocks for children shown this season the outfit featuring separate skirt and blouse is a general favorite. A particularly smart little separate skirt for general wear is a fine lightweight serge, the skirt pleated all around, and attached to a clever suspender arrangement which holds it comfortably to the figure. The suspenders or straps of self fabric are fastened on each side at the front with a metal buckle, and this bodice or suspender arrangement is fashioned in the front in vest shape, something like an apron bib. At the back only straps or bands appear.

This skirt holds many suggestions for the woman who makes little daughter's clothes.

SUITABLE CARE WILL LENGTHEN LIFE OF ALL LEATHER PRODUCTS

This harness has been used for 34 years. It has been kept clean and oiled frequently with neat's-foot oil. As a result it shows no signs of deterioration and should last 20 years longer. Proper selection and care did it.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

It is poor business to neglect the care of leather. Every pair of shoes, every machine belt, piece of harness, or other leather product on the farm that is allowed to go to waste or not made to yield its full service must be needlessly replaced, thus adding unnecessary expense to the farm, say specialists of the United States Department of Agriculture. On many farms a set of harness lasts less than ten years. Where eight or ten horses are kept this means one new set of harness every year. The department has received many reports, especially from Southern states, showing that harness lasts only from two to five years. But good harness, properly cared for, will last 20 years or more. In every neighborhood there are cases where farmers are cutting their harness bills in half by giving the leather a cleaning and oiling occasionally.

Fifty million pairs of shoes could be saved annually if the American people kept their footwear in repair, the specialists say. As a nation we buy some 300,000,000 pairs of shoes a year, but if each individual cared for his shoes properly the needs could be supplied by 250,000,000 pairs. The wasting of a single shoe a year by each person in the United States would cost the country at least $250,000,000 annually at present prices of shoes.

Any leather improperly used and neglected will deteriorate rapidly. Belts for driving machinery, for example, often become impaired. If not useless, within a few years even on straight drives, but when they are kept clean and oiled they will last from ten to thirty years.

Selecting and Caring for Harness.

Harness that is too light or of poor quality cannot give years of service. In selecting harness, it is more economical to get a set that is too heavy than one which is too light for the work required. Make sure especially that the reins, breeching, holdback straps, tugs or traces, bellybands, and yoke straps are strong. A runaway team cannot be controlled with weak reins, nor will weak tugs and straps stand heavy work. No portion of the harness should show cracks on the grain side when the leather is sharply bent.

Harness should be washed and oiled when it becomes dirty or extremely dry. For washing, use tepid water, a neutral soap, such as castile or white toilet soap, and a sponge or fairly stiff brush. Hardened grease is very conveniently removed by scraping with a dull knife. Rinse in clean, tepid water, and allow the harness to stand in a warm place until it is no longer wet but still damp. Then oil it and leave it in a warm place for 24 hours before being used. Harness should be oiled or greased while still damp; otherwise it may take up so much grease that it will pull out of shape or take up sand and grit, which will injure it, as well as spoil its appearance. Harness should never look or feel greasy.

Neat's-foot or castor oil or a mixture of these with wool grease is good for driving harness. For heavy harness use a mixture of any or all of these with wool grease to make a paste, having about the consistency of butter. Apply the grease lightly to driving harness and liberally to work harness. Rub the oil or grease, warm to the hand, thoroughly into the leather while it is still damp from washing. After the harness has hung in a warm room overnight, remove with a clean dry cloth the excess of oil which the leather is unable to take up.

Keep Belts Clean.

In selecting a belt for driving machinery, make sure that it is wide and heavy enough for the load it is to carry. Ordinarily the competent belt maker's advice as to the proper belt for a given installation should be followed. If the belt is not suited to the work it gives trouble continually, causing shutdown of machinery that will soon cost more in loss of time and wages than many good belts. It should always be sufficiently flexible to cling closely to the smallest pulley over which it passes. A belt will not give satisfactory results if it slips. Does not run true, is not properly laced, is run too loose or too tight, is subjected to rapid changes from light to heavy loads, is alternately wet and dry, is run on pulleys that are not true, or are too small for the weight and thickness of the belt, or is neglected and allowed to deteriorate for lack of grease.

The belt should be wiped off every night to prevent dust, dirt, or oil from working into it. When the belt needs oiling clean it well, especially on the pulley side, by washing with warm water and a good neutral soap. Wash rapidly and do not permit belt to become wet, as it will then stretch and slip. Apply the dressing lightly and evenly by rubbing it in with cotton waste or a piece of felt, and allow it to soak in the belt overnight. Among the best belt dressings are mixtures of cod and neat's-foot oils with tallow and wool grease, free from mineral acid.

HELPING OUT SHORT PASTURE IN SUMMER

Stock Raisers Face Inconvenience and Stock Loss.

There is Only One Remedy Where Vast Herds Are Kept and That Is to Practice System of Deferred and Rotation Grazing.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Stock raisers, especially in the Southwest, often, at this season of the year, face much inconvenience and probable loss of cattle through the shortage of pastures. In other sections, where smaller herds and areas are involved, the summer pasture situation can be met in various ways, say specialists of the United States Department of Agriculture. Among the ways are the sowing of catch crops for summer forage or temporary pastures. But, with ranges running into thousands of acres, with vast herds grazing, there is only one remedy and that is to put into practice a system of deferred and rotation grazing.

Such a system will necessitate the division of the range into separate pastures, keeping the cattle off of one pasture each year until the seeds of the native grasses are mature, at which time cattle may be turned to graze. In this manner the growth of grass is utilized and the grass seeds are trampled into the soil, which is necessary to germination. By systematic rotation each pasture may be allowed to reseed once in each three to five years, as desired.

Where ranges are heavily stocked in the beginning of such a system, it may be necessary to transfer a part of the herd to other ranges, but the ultimate result will be an increase in the carrying capacity of the range, as has been shown in various experiences in the Southwest. Overstocking should be avoided in every instance.

WASHING SPINACH NOT GOOD

Practice Found to Have Unfavorable Effect on Keeping Qualities and Favors Rot.

Washing spinach before shipment has been found to have an unfavorable effect on its keeping qualities. Unwashed spinach, it is said, showed under test practically no soft rot, while washed spinach showed 6.5 per cent. Three days later the washed spinach developed 24.8 per cent rot, while the unwashed developed only 5.7 per cent, it was found.

MANAGEMENT OF BROOD SOWS

Bringing Them Up in Good Flesh Before Breeding Season Is Most Important Factor.

One of the most important factors in brood sow management is that of bringing them up to good flesh condition before the breeding season and furnishing them with an abundance of food, bone and muscle-building feeds after they are safe with pig. Liberal rations of suitable feedstuffs are needed to develop the unborn pigs and maintain the body vigor of the sow.

reputation. The action is as rapid as any serial, with the added advantage that you know the ultimate outcome before you leave the theatre.

But It Is Not So.

And Tomkins says life would be perfectly pleasant if it was as easy for human nature to forget resentments as it is to forget obligations.

IN FALL FASHIONS

Skirts Straight and Nine Inches From the Floor.

Suits Dark; Colors for Hats; Waistline Four Inches Lower Than Normal.

If there is any more delightful diversion for a hot summer day than speculating on winter styles the feminine mind has not found it. Fortunately enough, observes a fashion correspondent, authentic information has floated in from fashion centers to give form and color to wardrobe planning.

The thermometer never soared so high that a woman could not be pleasant as she pictures herself in a new fall suit cut on the latest lines. Lines, you see, for there are three lengths in new suit coats, the hip length coat, the finger tip length and the very long coat. The lines of the long coats are as graceful as one could wish, often deep revers extending almost to the waistline give a decorative touch to the new suit. Then there is the very long coat made with a long waistline, bloused a bit, perhaps, and buttoned straight up the chin, for the swanlike neck line in suits is full of promise.

Skirts are straight, wide enough to permit the wearer to walk comfortably and nine inches from the floor, at the present. The tailored suit will hesitate a few months before it decides to give in to the dictum of longer skirts. Dresses have succumbed, the suit will do this.

As to color the suits are dark blue or black with an occasional variation as the fabrics advance from the various twill cords of autumn into the soft pile fabrics of winter.

The hat lends the color. Flame colored felt, or spark, if you like the new term better, lovely grays and soft shades of rose that defy a name are "the firstlings of the season."

"Where is the waistline in the new coat presses? Inquired a shopper. Answers the buyer authoritatively, "About four inches lower than the normal waistline; there the panels begin to flutter and fly, for the straight-line dress has panels galore, and a panel to fulfill its mission must drop below the hem of the skirt," so the longer skirt was reconciled, for you can compromise, you know, by a short skirt and long panels and be very smartly dressed. The yards and yards of silk build on just one of the new dresses would make a love of a kite string.

There's no half way place in sleeves, either the frock has them or it's sleeveless. The long, flowing sleeve, which adds grace to a garment and charm to nine out of every ten girls, is with us, for unusual is the arm that is not better looking clad in some almy drapery.

For suits, coats and dresses, the sleeve takes varied lines, the kimono sleeve is close-fitting at the armhole and widens from the elbow to the wrist. Flowing sleeves are often cuffed elaborately, which is a welcome change from the plain tight-fitting variety. Or a sleeve may be fashioned after the bishop's sleeve, gathered into a snug cuff at the wrist. Oh, yes, the sleeve is coming in for real attention this season.

CAMPAIGN FOR BETTER Sires

Department of Agriculture is Aiding Movement by Issuing Number of Publications.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

In response to many requests for information to be used in starting better-sires movements in various localities, the bureau of animal industry, United States Department of Agriculture, has prepared a list of available publications and other material in the department. It has also furnished data useful to persons interested in legislation for restricting the use of mongrel sires.

Except when the open range is involved, however, or there is need to control inferior sires from running at large, specialists of the bureau prefer a continuance of educational work to legislation. They place emphasis on the fact that the work, although in-

To aid in conducting educational campaigns, the department has issued a number of circulars, posters and newspaper articles, as well as much mimeographed material. A booklet entitled "Better Sires—Better Stock," explaining the movement, can be obtained by addressing the United States Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C. Other material on this subject is:

Department Bulletin 903, Principles of Live Stock Breeding (semi-scientific). Price, 15 cents.

Farmers' Bulletin 1167, Essentials of Animal Breeding.

GOWN OF GRAY SHOT TAFFETA

This dance gown is of gray shot taffeta. The basque, quarter sleeves and full short skirt, rimmed about with cording, are well in the vogue of Paris.

For Summer Sports.
The contest is a part of many a smart costume for out of doors. Sometimes it falls into lines of the bolero in the front and becomes a cape at the back. Again it is just a chic box-coat affair or it may be that it is more than a little suggestive of the gown of old. But always it is of a material that contrasts effectively with the skirt. Contrasts are decidedly marked this season; for instance, a jacket of serge is worn with a skirt of crepe de chine or a coat of black velvet and a frock of tulle or gay silk.

Waist Lines.
The vogue for the giraffe or belt will extend into winter clothing. Especially in the youthful models are found effects in fringe, crepe, metal and velvet.

Country Child's Handicap

From the Literary Digest, Aug. 20

The country child receives only half the educational facilities afforded the city child, and, in fact, his struggle for the good things of life, even for mere existence, is so unequal as to demand the serious attention of sociologists, according to a survey made by Prof. Mabel Carney, of Columbia university. The rural school-child, she says, is actually suffering from serious physical neglect despite his more healthful environment. His education depends largely upon untrained teachers and slipshod methods, and the physical defects which make him a dullard in school go practically unnoticed and often unnoticed. The underlying cause of this distressing situation, so far as the schools are concerned, says Miss Carney, as she is quoted in the New York Tribune, is the small salary paid the country teacher. Forty per cent of the teachers in rural communities receive less than $600 a year, twenty-four per cent less than $500, and eleven per cent less than $400. The United States as a whole is spending $40 for each city child's education. For each country child it is expending $24. Furthermore, there was an actual shortage of 18,000 teachers in the country districts in September, 1920. And of the 300,000 rural teachers in the United States about half have not completed a four years high school course, while ten per cent have finished only seven or eight grades of the elementary school. One-third of all the rural teachers have had no professional preparation whatever. Less than 2 per cent are normal school graduates.

The work of investigating educational conditions in rural districts was conducted under the auspices of the departments of rural education and educational administration of Columbia university, with Professor Carney as one of the leaders in the movement. As quoted in The Tribune, she declares indignantly:

"No greater unfairness in the annals of education can be found than the inequality which exists in the rural field. Almost half the school children of the United States, about 8,000,000, attend one and two teacher rural schools. These children receive there education in 210,000 box car buildings, many of them dilapidated and neglected.

"Their school term averages 137 days, as against 184 for city children. This means that the country child has an elementary school course of only six years, where the city child, with better teachers, has eight years. In addition, the average daily attendance of the country child is sixty-five per cent, as against eighty per cent for the city child.

"In the matter of higher education, a study made by the bureau of education shows that the average country child has one-sixth as many opportunities for a high school education as the city child. It is also estimated that ninety per cent of country children never go further than the rural school.

In matters of health the situation is even more serious, the death rate in rural areas being five times as high as in New York City. Forty-eight per cent of country children have defective teeth, but only thirty-three per cent of city children are so neglected. Twenty-eight per cent of country children have affections of the tonsils and twenty-three per cent adenoids, while urban figures are sixteen and twelve per cent, respectively.

"In ear defects country children are four times as badly off as city children, while eye defects run 23 per cent for rural pupils and only 12 per cent for urban. Sixteen per cent of country children suffer from malnutrition and generally improper feeding, while only 7 per cent of city children suffer from similar causes.

"The whole story of the plight of the country school-child may be summed up by the statement that the rural child's chance of getting an education is little better than half afforded the city child. The country boy or girl is getting only about one-half the teaching, ability, one-half the health protection, less than half the supervision, and not quite half the efficient administration of his school affairs that is everywhere accorded his more fortunate city cousin."

Palatine Fair to Be Held Next Week

Nothing has been left undone to make this year's Cook county fair, to be held at Palatine September 13 to 18, the biggest and most interesting event of the kind ever offered to the people of northern Illinois. Through the medium of the fair Cook county is going to enlighten her own people as to her real importance in the field of agriculture and kindred branches, and neighboring counties also will have full opportunity to visualize the high standing of the county in farming, stock raising and marketing.

The general scope of educational and entertainment features will be much more extensive than ever before. The program, covering six days and six nights is designed to interest all classes of the population and all ages. There will not be a dull moment in the full six-day stretch.

The fair is going to show that the county's agricultural wealth ranks with that of the top counties of America. Here are a few of the outstanding features of Cook county:

There are 5,000 farms with a total value of $100,000,000. These farms pasture 43,000 swine, 42,000 cattle and 16,000 horses, and a goodly percentage of the animals are pure bred. The largest herd of accredited cattle in the state is located in Cook county, and it will be at the fair.

Two million bushels of oats, 1,500,000 bushels of corn and 500,000 bushels of wheat represent the county's annual production of these cereals.

From 1,500,000 to 2,000,000 bushels of onion sets, or 90 per cent of all used in America, are produced in the county. Hundreds of acres of tomatoes are grown annually to supply the largest canning factory in the world, at Blue Island. The county's sugar beet fields aggregate many thousands of acres. The largest green houses in the world are located at Morton Grove, and it will be at the fair.

and the total area under glass in the trucking district of the county ranks second in size in the United States.

The diversification of Cook county's agriculture is well nigh endless, farmers specializing in everything from lilies of the valley and mint to mushrooms, dill weed, horse radish, dairy and beef cattle and draft horses. All this wonderful diversification will be visualized at the fair.

The Cook county fair, more than any other one in the entire county will be a Farm Bureau fair, and its primary purpose is to encourage general advancement in farming and in farm products.

Is backache keeping you miserable? Are you "all played out," without strength or vigor for your work? Then find what is causing the trouble and correct it. Likely, it's your kidneys! You have probably been working too hard and neglecting rest and exercise. Your kidneys have slowed up and poisons have accumulated. That, then, is the cause of the backache, headaches, dizziness and bladder irregularities. Use Doan's Kidney Pills. Doan's have helped thousands and should help you. Ask your neighbor!

Canada is the second best customer of the United States. This is proved by trade statistics recently issued by the Canadian government covering the fiscal year ended March 31. Great Britain is the largest buyer. Canada's imports from the United States last year averaged $100 per capita of Canada's population. Its total imports amounted to $1,240,125,056. This was an increase of $176,000,000 over imports of the previous year, due, according to authorities, to heavy buying in the United States. The grand total of trade done by Canada during the last year was $2,450,553,175.

SPEAKS AT DETROIT MEETING

Demands That Public Work Be Started and Places in Mills Made—Against "Living Wage;" Wants the "Saving Wage."

Detroit, Mich., Sept. 7.—Labor day dawned on a situation that calls to every loyal American for the best thought, the mightiest effort and the strongest faith he can summon. Secretary of Labor James J. Davis said at a Labor day celebration on Belle Isle.

"This year Labor day must be dedicated first of all to meeting the imperative human need of the nearly 6,000,000 idle," said he.

"All over the country a strange hush has fallen. The great American productive machine, the wonder of the world, has slowed down."

"The country is sick from overindulgence and one and all we have had to go on the operating table for the removal of false values."

"Labor day this year must be the day to dedicate to finding the answer to the question, 'What will put us back to health and work and prosperity again?'"

"The problem of unemployment calls for instant and energetic action. Cities, counties and states should start at once the making of road repairs, building reservoirs and other public works. Much such construction or repair is in heavy arrears in account of the interruption of the war, and now is the time to have it done. A double need will be met, the public will be served and the idle are given tasks to do and money to earn."

"For lack of courage we are neglecting any number of large undertakings that would give a mighty shove to the great stalled engine of American production."

"What article, for instance, besides steel enters more intimately into every process of life than coal? Yet the situation we have on our hands is a perfect example of that paralysis of mind and will on the part of us all which accounts for our paralysis in business."

"Miners are idle and miners with them because people think the prices of coal could and may be lower."

"Dealers and operators are in suspense because they think that wages and freight rates should and may be lower. The railroads are in suspense because they fear the attitude of employees. And employees, the miners with them, fear the attitude and suspect the fairness of employers."

"So we travel in a vicious circle, and no one has the courage to break it. The consequence is that coal is scarce and will be high this winter of all winters, when people should have their coal at the lowest possible price."

"The price will never be lower, the situation will never be broken until one or the other party to it has the American courage to take a loss, to make a move and start the flow of coal."

"For some time the railroads have been the keylog in the business jam. Like the parties involved in the coal situation, but on a scale that much more widely and adversely affected the country, the railroads have been locked in a rigid tangle."

"With the allotting of $500,000,000 to the railroads, at President Harding's solicitation, one of the great central vicious circles at the heart of the national business will be broken."

"The cause of labor is more alive today than it ever has been."

"A few employers have taken this period when jobs are scarce and the workman is at a disadvantage, to break down their workers' organizations."

"It seems to those people a good time to even up old scores, to revenge themselves for the high wages they were forced to pay a year or two ago, and see to it that such a wage scale never obtains again."

"The peril in this speaks for itself. To employers everywhere I would say, 'Don't set your wages by the hungry crowd at the gates of your mill.'"

"Let the open shop mean what it says—open to all," he added. "Any employer knows that crushing the unions cannot be done in the first place; he knows that it would not be safe in any case. We want no tussle in this country, no horde of disgruntled, leaderless men, reduced to such a state of starvation that charity must go to their aid."

"Opposition to the principle of the living wage also was expressed by Mr. Davis."

"I am against the living wage," he said. "It is not enough. We need to hear something of the saving wage."

200 MINERS KILLED, REPORT

Battle on 25-Mile Front Near Logan Courthouse Lasted All Day—Both Sides Fire From Machine Gun Nests, Officials Say.

Logan, W. Va., Sept. 5.—Two hundred miners are believed to have been killed in the battle of Logan Courthouse. Colonel Eubank, commanding the citizens' army, defending Logan against the advance of the miners, said reports indicated heavy casualties at the front.

The battle, which lasted all day on a 25-mile front, was a complete check to the miners' apparent attempt to break through the Logan lines before the arrival of United States troops. Both sides fired from machine gun nests with telling effect, the loss to the miners being particularly heavy.

Private airplanes were used for scouting purposes by the defending army. Some of them carried TNT bombs, which were dropped inside the miners' lines.

Charleston, W. Va., Sept. 5.—The most sanguinary battle in the history of West Virginia mine disorders has occurred, according to reports received at the governor's office.

"The state of West Virginia is now in the hands of the federal government," Governor Morgan announced.

The governor issued a proclamation announcing that the officers of the United States army were now in charge and all peace officers and citizens were ordered to obey the law and also obey the regulations which are to be immediately promulgated by General Bandholtz.

The proclamation, issued by Governor Morgan follows:

"To All State and County Officers, Civil and Military Deputies, Assistants and Subordinates:

"Whereas, The United States troops have, at my request, been ordered to this state for the purpose of quelling an insurrection; the peace officers of this state are ordered to co-operate with the United States troops to the end that there may be unity of action."

"The peace officers of this state will obey the directions of the officer commanding the United States troops or his properly designated representatives."

"With the arrival of the United States army detachments Brigadier General Bandholtz, War department representative, becomes military commander of the state."

Washington, Sept. 5.—Federal troops are moving into West Virginia from two points to quell the uprising of miners in the Mingo county regions.

The Nineteenth Infantry was dispatched from Camp Sherman, O., and the Twenty-sixth Infantry was sent from Camp Dix, N. J. Their destination is Charleston, where they will await further orders before moving into the troubled districts. Additional forces will go if necessary.

The advance was ordered by the War department following the receipt of a telegram from Brig. Gen. B. H. Bandholtz, the War department representative on the scene, which declared the situation called for the presence of federal forces.

Major General Harbord, chief of staff, immediately telegraphed instructions to Camp Sherman and Camp Dix ordering the Nineteenth and Twenty-sixth Infantry to entrain.

He acted without waiting for formal proclamation of martial law in the state by the President which usually precedes the movement of troops in such an emergency.

Children Cry For Fletcher's CASTORIA*Special Care of Baby.

That Baby should have a bed of its own all are agreed. Yet it is more reasonable for an infant to sleep with grown-ups than to use a man's medicine in an attempt to regulate the delicate organism of that same infant. Either practice is to be shunned. Neither would be tolerated by specialists in children's diseases.

Your Physician will tell you that Baby's medicine must be prepared with even greater care than Baby's food.

A Baby's stomach when in good health is too often disarranged by improper food. Could you for a moment, then, think of giving to your ailing child anything but a medicine especially prepared for Infants and Children? Don't be deceived.

Make a mental note of this:—It is important, Mothers, that you should remember that to function well, the digestive organs of your Baby must receive special care. No Baby is so abnormal that the desired results may be had from the use of medicines primarily prepared for grown-ups.

Proffiter Felt It Was Due to His Dignity to Have Nothing But the Very Latest.

Bishop Hooper Stunts said at a dinner in Omaha:

"If we were all as ambitious to progress ethically as our war producers are to progress socially, it would be a very good thing."

"A war profiteer decided recently to drop the Baptist faith and turn Episcopalian, as all the hang-up people in town went to the Episcopalian church."

"So he visited the bookstore and asked for the hymnals, Bibles and so forth that he would need in his new way to worship."

"He seemed well enough pleased with the volumes that the salesman laid before him till he came to the Book of Common Prayer. Over this he frowned and shook his head."

"This'll hardly do," he said, and he tapped the title with his forefinger. "Let's have something a little more select, ho."

QUEER METHOD OF DEFENSE

Fishes That Have the Power of Inflating Their Bodies, Frightening Their Enemies.

The swell fishes of tropic coast waters have the power of suddenly inflating the body with water or air until they assume an approximately globular form several times the normal diameter, which must be disconcerting to any enemy about to seize one. The porcupine fish, in addition to doing this, has the body everywhere covered with long, sharp spines which project in every direction like the quills of a hedgehog. The trunk fishes, instead of being protected in this way, have the body encased in a bony shell, like a turtle. In the East Indies there are rectangular species, but ours are three-cornered, beechnut shaped. They go by various names—cuckold, shell fish, and so forth, the cowfish being a species with two horrible spines projecting from its forehead. They are excellent eating, cooked in the shell like a lobster. The back muscles of the swell fishes are sometimes eaten, but make a risky delicacy, as there are well-authenticated instances of severe poisoning from eating these fishes. The poison seems to be localized in the viscera and to permeate the rest of the fish after death.

Poorly Equipped.

"Funny how some people try to get along with no household equipment at all," remarked Jaggins. "Why, these new neighbors of mine haven't a lawn mower, a hose, a stepladder, a saw, a fishing rod, an ice cream freezer or any new books."

"How in the world do you know they haven't?" asked Muggins.

"Why, the day after they moved in I stepped over in a neighborly way and tried to borrow these things."—New York Sun.

Sage Advice Offered Without Charge by the Pastor of the Arkansas Thomas Cat.

Take a little tip from ye pastor of the Thomas Cat, mothers, and maybe the angels will fight on your side. Watch your young daughters' friends. Scrutinize carefully her men friends, for many wolves there be in sheep's clothing. Keep a wary eye on her girl friends, because birds of a feather are supposed to flock together, and one silly, loud, indiscreet young person can compromise all who associate with her. But as you value your daughter's safety, turn a searching light of investigation upon the character and antecedents of her middle-aged women acquaintances.—Arkansas Thomas Cat

The Folly of Cheating Nature

Many people get the idea that they can keep their nerves on edge and their digestion upset year after year, and get away with it. They sleep only half as much as they should—and never get properly and thoroughly rested.

If you tire out easily, if you are getting pale and anemic, if your food doesn't digest as it should, would it not be well to stop and consider whether coffee or tea is having its effect on you?

The caffeine and their found in coffee and tea are drugs, as any doctor can tell you. Is it any wonder that the steady use of these drugs sometimes causes serious damage?

If you really want to be fair with yourself, and give yourself the opportunity you deserve in order to do your best work, make up your mind to quit coffee and tea for awhile—and drink delicious, appetizing Postum instead.

Postum permits sound, refreshing sleep which builds strength, energy and endurance.

Silverlake was beaten Sunday by the State Liners at State Line park before a large crowd 3 to 2. Silverlake bunched their errors in the sixth and seventh innings and presented the State Liners with their three runs after holding a 2 to 0 lead. The only earned run of the game came in the fourth inning when Mack caught one of Swan's fast ones and pushed it over the left field wall for a home run.

The Silverlakers failed to put the game safely away in the third inning after Ward and Edgar had hit safely and Robinson was hit by a pitched ball. L. Hegeman striking out and R. Hegeman hitting into a double play.

Edgar allowed only six hits while Swan allowed 10. The hits were bunched off Swan in the third, fifth and sixth innings but brilliant support left Silverlake men stranded on the bases in practically every inning.

And strange to say the umpiring seemed to satisfy everyone.

Mukwonago avenged the crushing defeat handed them on the fourth of July by importing "Big Ben," the star hurler from the Central State league, and a few other players. Silverlake failed to get a hit off Big Ben's delivery until the eighth inning. Three hits and three errors in the eighth inning gave Silverlake five runs.

Wedakind started in the box for Silverlake but lost control in the second and third innings and his wildness cost the game. Edgar relieved Wedakind in the third with the bases full and none out and pitched brilliantly throughout the remainder of the game after pitching a full game Sunday. Edgar retired the side on strikes in the fifth and seventh innings. Big Ben struck out 11 batters and Edgar struck out 11 in six innings. The game was marred by several fights among the spectators.

The Silverlake club has won 19 games and lost three and has played their regular team in every contest in spite of the fact that on seven of the last ten games played the opposing teams have "loaded up" especially for the occasion.

Regiment Proud of Long Service.

The Third Infantry, the oldest regiment of our army, which dates from 1784, has developed its arms to show its early service in Mexico. One interesting device used by this regiment is a baton crossed with an oldtime bayonet back of the shield. The baton which figures prominently in the regiment's history was made from the flagstaff of the capitol of the City of Mexico and was taken when the city was captured. It is still one of the most highly prized possessions of the regiment.

Mammoth Cave in 1912.

Visitors to the Mammoth cave in Kentucky, whose attention is attracted by the brilliant arches of crystal, by the amazing echoes, and by the diversity of the rock formation, may not remember that this particular locality was once of great practical benefit to the country. For it was by reason of its immense deposits of sulphur, used in the manufacture of gunpowder during the War of 1812, that the spot was first given notoriety.
